A FAMILY PERSPECTIVE by Bud Ozar

Today Jesus gives this advice: "Do not let your hearts be troubled." Worry and anxiety can consume our lives preventing us from seeing the love which surrounds us and binds us to one another. Don't miss the forest for the trees. We are living today what we worried about yesterday.

Chaplain Waibel voted 'meanest on campus'

PETER F. CARACAPPA
Special to The Poly

Despite a stunning run of last minute voting, Catholic Chaplain Catherine Waibel was able to hold onto her lead to be crowned the Meanest Man on Campus. Appeared with donations, Waibel has decided to allow spring to begin. The Chaplain has supplanted the 1995 winner Professor Kongki Min of the Physics Department. Coming in on Waibel's heels were Director of Graduate Academic Services Elizabeth Large, Dean of Computing and Information Services John Kolb, and Chair of the Environmental and Energy Engineering Department Don Steiner. Honorable mention placing goes to the sole student competitor, Ben Levine, and Professor of Management Bill St. John.

A total of $3,594.58 was raised for the Troy Boys and Girls Club. This has been one of the most successful MMOCs in several years. A great amount of thanks goes to all the candidates for the effort they put in to the contest, and to all those that donated to such a worthy cause. The Troy Boys and Girls Club is located at the base of RPI's campus, and serves the youth of this community. They are very excited about the contest, and wish to extend their thanks to the Rensselaer Community for its support.

SPIRITUAL SEEDS

What's the Wordle?

Greetings all!

By now you may have noticed I enjoy the dynamic between “playing on words” and it’s attention-grabbing reflection that may be induced. “What’s the Word?”, that is to say, what is it that God is calling each of us to hear, to be attentive to, and to respond to is an on-going “million dollar question”!

Where/when during our faith community’s liturgy, our Mass, do you hear God speaking to you? During the homily? Or maybe during the Prayers of the Faithful? Perhaps during the announcements? Possibly it's a lyric that grabs at you. In the words of poet Mary Oliver “Pay attention. Be astonished. Tell about it.”

Upcoming Events

Sunday, Feb 13th: “Come for Mass, Stay for the first half of the Big Game” gathering at C+CC

Monday, Feb 14th: “The Dating Project” look at building healthy relationships 7:30pm-9:30pm at C+CC

Tuesday, Feb 15th: Bible Study @7pm

Tuesday, March 1st: Shrove Tuesday Pancakes after Mass

COLLEGE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS COUNCIL #13635

by Andy Bouffard bouffa@rpi.edu

By Patrick E. Kelly, Supreme Knight

“Flowing from the Year of St. Joseph declared by Pope Francis, and inspired by his apostolic letter Patris Corde, comes our Pilgrim Icon Program in honor of St. Joseph [2021-2023].”

St. Joseph carried out his mission of raising, guarding and preparing Christ quietly, courageously and faithfully. For that faithful work, St. Joseph was rewarded — not with seeing the fruits of his labor in this life, but with the incomparable prize of glory in heaven.

This beautiful icon is housed at St. Joseph’s Oratory in Montréal, Canada’s preeminent Shrine to St. Joseph, founded by St. André Bessette. The original is written (prayerfully painted) by Elizabeth Bergeron [SJSH] from a drawing by famed iconographer Alexandre Sobolev. In the image, St. Joseph stands with his eyes cast humbly down, but with a determined strength in his face. In his covered arm he bears the Child Jesus, whose own hand is raised, blessing the world. In his right arm, St. Joseph holds a flowering staff, a sign that he was chosen by God. The white lilies of the staff signify his purity and chastity.

Taken together, the icon provides a window into the life and mission of this courageous father, a man who was one of us and yet called to a mission of incomparable significance. Our world desperately needs men and women of courage. But in a particular way, it needs courageous fathers — men willing to stand up and to carry out their own mission of protecting, defending and raising future generations. It needs men willing to risk it all, in order to offer the world Jesus. In short, our world needs men in the model of St. Joseph.” St. Joseph, pray for us.

NEWMAN CATHOLIC FELLOWSHIP

by Megan Adam adamm2@rpi.edu

Within my high school's campus ministry center, a flag with a quote from St. Francis DeSales hung on the wall: "Be who you are and be that well." As time has progressed, I've begun to understand the significance of this maxim, and would like to emphasize how St. Francis does not declare "Be like the others" or "Strive for perfection." I feel that many of us today, under various circumstances, face internal and/or external pressures to be perfect; additionally, the temptation to settle for the ways of the world can seem to pull us in like a magnet. However, Desales' divinely-inspired words remind us of how the path to living a fulfilled life involves sticking to our roots, values, and passions. Yes, it's true that our world is home to nearly 8 billion inhabitants, but no two people are the same. We are all made unique, called to live in ways which honor God, others, and also ourselves. St. Francis DeSales offers the perfect reminder in the following sentence of his quote, which reads, "So that you may bring honor to the Master Craftsman whose handiwork you are." It is good enough to be ourselves; God wouldn't want it any other way.

FR. LARRY RICE, CSP

On behalf of all the Paulist Fathers, I'd like to thank everyone for their generous response to the Paulist Annual Appeal. I know that I'm still the "new kid on the block," but your support of the Paulist Fathers and our mission feels like a great affirmation of me, the Paulists, and our work across the country. During this Lent you'll have the opportunity to get to know more of the Paulists and our founder, Servant of God Isaac Hecker. Again, our sincere thanks for your gifts that sustain us!
